DETAILED ACTION

1. Applicant's election without traverse of Figures 1-8 and claims 1-4,7-13,20-27,31,35-37 in the reply filed on 7/1/05 is acknowledged.

Specification

2. The title of the invention is not descriptive. A new title is required that is clearly indicative of the invention to which the claims are directed.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

4. Claims 1-4 and 7-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

5. Claim 1 recites the limitation "the first shell assembly" in lines 11-12. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

6. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

7. Claims 1-4, 7, 10, 25-27, 31 and 35-37 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Hosler, Sr. (5062808).

Hosler (Figures 1-7) shows a coaxial connector assembly comprising an adapter 10 having a first end, a second end, a center conductor 50, 60 and a first outer conductive shell 20, 30 at each end with center conductors electrically connected together, outer shells electrical connected together and the center conductors isolated from the outer shells; a first cable connector 200 mounted at one end and a second cable connector 300 mounted on the other end of the adapter wherein the second ends of the cable connectors mate with the adapter and their first ends are adapted to mate with a first and second coaxial cable connectors. The first ends of the connectors could be male, female of styles U.S., BBC or global. The first ends of the first and second cable connectors could be of the same gender and style. The center conductors of the cable connectors are electrically connected to the center conductors of the adapter and conductive front shells of the cable connectors are electrically connected to first outer conductive shells of the adapter. Insulators are mounted between the first center conductors and conductive front shell of the cable connectors. The first or the second cable connector may be removed and replaced by a third cable connector of similar gender and style.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

8. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Art Unit: 2839

9. Claims 8-9 and 21-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Mason (5223673).

Hosler shows all the features of these claims except the cable connectors threadably mounted on the adapter and the conductive outer body. Such features are well known in the art of electrical connectors and widely used. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the instant invention to provide such features because these would provide an easily detachable connection.

10. Claims 11-13 and 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Mason (5223673).

Hosler shows all the features of these claims except an intermediate conductive body 110 made in two parts. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the instant invention to make intermediate conductive body 110 made in two parts since it has been held that forming a formerly integral structure in various elements involves only routine skill in the art. Nerwin v. Erlichman, 168 USPQ 177, 179.

Conclusion

11. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Green et al. (3673546) and Capp (4813887)
